Or, How to Mix all Kinds of Drinks.

ABSINTHE AND WATER.

(Use large bar glass.)

1 pony-glass Absinthe.

Allow water to slowly drop into the glass until full.

Never use Absinthe in any preparation unless ordered by the customer.

ABSINTHE FRAPPE.

(Use 6 oz. glass.)

Fill mixing glass full shaved ice.

1 teaspoonful Benedictine.

1 pony Absinthe.

1 wine-glass water.

Shake the ingredients until the outside of the shaker has a frosty appearance, strain into a six-ounce glass and serve.

ABSINTHE COCKTAIL.

(Use cocktail glass.)

Fill mixing glass two-thirds full shaved ice.

1 teaspoonful of Benedictine.

2 dashes Peychaud, Boker's or Angostura bitters.

½ wine-glass of water.

½ wine-glass of Absinthe.

Stir well and strain into a cocktail glass and serve.

AMERICAN METHOD OF SERVING ABSINTHE.

¾ glass of finely shaved ice.
4 or 5 dashes gum syrup.
1 pony Absinthe.
2 wine-glasses of water.

Shake the ingredients until the outside of the shaker is covered with ice. Strain into a large champagne glass.

FRENCH METHOD OF SERVING ABSINTHE.

(Use a champagne glass standing in a bowl.)

1 pony glass Absinthe.

Fill the bowl of your Absinthe glass (which has a hole in the center) with shaved ice and the balance with water.

Then elevate the bowl and let the contents drip into the glass containing the Absinthe, until the color shows a sufficiency.

Pour into a large bar glass.

ITALIAN METHOD OF MIXING ABSINTHE.

(A large bar glass.)

1 pony of Absinthe.
2 or 3 pieces of cracked ice.
2 or 3 dashes Maraschino.
½ pony of anisette.

Pour ice water into the glass; slowly stir with a spoon and serve.

HALF AND HALF.

(Use stone bar-mug.)

The American method is to mix half old and half new ale together and serve.

"ARF AND ARF," OR BLACK AND TAN.

(Use an ale glass or bar-mug.)

This is a common English drink and means half porter and half ale, but in this country we use half old ale and half new, or porter and stout with ale.

It is always best to ask the customer how he desires it.

BISHOP.

(A large bar glass.)

1 teaspoonful powdered white sugar.

2 dashes lemon juice, with rind of two slices.

One squirt seltzer water.

¾ glass filled with finely shaved ice.

Fill the balance with claret or red Burgundy.

2 dashes of Jamaica rum.

Shake well. Dress with fruit, and serve with a straw.

Set before the customer a small bar glass, and another containing ice water.

Fill a pony glass with best brandy, and pour it into the empty glass.

(A large bar glass.)

1 tablespoon powdered sugar.

Mix.

SYRUP OF NECTAR.

30 drops essence of nectar.
1 lb. simple syrup.
Mix.

The proportion of 30 parts of sugar to 16 parts of water also makes an excellent syrup.

It is worth adding that it will be found best to employ only the best refined sugar, and filtered water, soft as possible. By so doing it often saves the trouble of clarification, which invariably becomes necessary when inferior ingredients are used.

The best plan is to pour the water cold over the sugar and let it slowly melt; and, when saturated, boil it up to the boil by a gentle heat, and then keep simmering to the point desired.

PINEAPPLE SYRUP.

Add 1 ounce essence of pineapple to 1 gallon white syrup and half ounce tartaric acid.

RASPBERRY SYRUP.

The oil and coloring matter should be well shaken with a small quantity of spirit, then added to the remainder and the whole agitated briskly. Add the boiling water to the syrup, and having mixed them let them be added to the jar containing the spirit. If necessary, fine down with alum, etc., as with the others. In making the above a considerable saving may be effected by using oil of cassia; the true cinnamon flavor is, of course, wanting, but is so well represented by that of oil of cassia that none but the most experienced can detect the difference.

GINGER BRANDY.

This may be made by following the same directions as given for ginger gin, or the following will be found more economical, though taking a longer time to prepare. Steep half a pound of well bruised Jamaica ginger in one gallon of strong brandy for fourteen days, shaking it up repeatedly. Let this be strained through muslin. Throw the ginger from the muslin into a gallon of boiling water and allow it to simmer over a low fire for twenty minutes and strain. To this then add ten pounds of refined sugar.

PEPPERMINT.

1 drachm oil of peppermint.
3 pints rectified spirit (60 O. P.).
13 pints cordial syrup.
Proceed as in the foregoing.

GINGER.

Bruise half a pound of the best new Jamaica ginger in an iron mortar, and put it in a bottle containing one pint of spirit of wine (60 O. P.), and one pint of water, allow it to macerate for ten or twelve days, shaking it up well each morning. After the twelfth day transfer it to a funnel containing a paper filter; when all the liquid has run through pass two pints of sherry over it, and lastly, one pint of boiling water. This will yield rather better than half a gallon of liquid. When all are mixed, dissolve in this one ounce of burned sugar, and having added twelve pints of syrup, shake the whole well up, and fine with alum, etc.

GINGER GIN.

Take the best Jamaica ginger, bruised small, half a pound; boil it in one gallon of water, and strain through fine muslin. In this dissolve ten pounds of refined sugar by means of a gentle heat. Over the bruised ginger which remains in the muslin strainer pass one gallon unmixed gin (O. P.), mix this and the syrup of ginger together, add finings, and set aside to clear.

USQUEBAUGH.

1 drachm oil of aniseed.
1 drachm oil of cloves.
1 drachm essential oil of nutmegs.
20 drops oil of cinnamon.
30 drops oil of juniper.

Mix all the oils together, shaking well occasionally for a day or so; then dissolve them in rectified spirit (60 O. P.), one pint; colored with burned sugar, one ounce; and add to each, syrup and boiling water, twelve pints. Mix all together thoroughly and fine with alum, etc.

RUM SHRUB.

½ gallon bitter orange juice.
8 lbs. refined sugar.
1½ gallon rum, reduced to 40 U. P.

Dissolve the sugar in the juice by aid of a gentle heat, mix this and the rum together, shake up well and set aside to clear. If not bright in a fortnight fine down with isinglass.

TEMPERANCE DRINKS.

DRAUGHT LEMONADE, OR LEMON SHERBET.

5 lemons, sliced.
4 oz. lump sugar.
1 qt. boiling water.
Very fine.

DRAUGHT LEMONADE, OR LEMON SHERBET.

(A cheaper method.)

1½ oz. cream of tartar.
1½ oz. tartaric or citric acid.
Juice and peel of three lemons.
2 lbs. or more loaf sugar.

The sweetening must be regulated according to taste.

GINGER LEMONADE.

Boil ten pounds and a half of lump sugar for twenty minutes in ten gallons of water; clear it with the whites of six eggs. Bruise half a pound of common ginger, boil with the liquor, and then pour it upon ten lemons pared. When quite cold put it in a cask, with two tablespoonfuls of yeast, the lemons sliced, and half an ounce of isinglass. Bung up the cask the next day; it will be ready in two weeks.

IMPERIAL DRINK FOR FAMILIES.

3 oz. cream of tartar.
Juice and peel of 3 or 4 lemons.
2 lb. coarse sugar.

Put these into a gallon pitcher and pour on boiling water. When cool it will be fit for use.

LEMONADE.

(Use large bar glass.)

Juice of ½ lemon.
1½ tablespoonful of sugar.
2 or 3 pieces of orange.
1 tablespoonful of raspberry or strawberry syrup.

Fill the tumbler full with shaved ice, the balance with water, and ornament with fruits in season.

LEMONADE.

(Fine for parties.)

Rind of 2 lemons.
Juice of 3 large lemons.
½ lb. of loaf sugar.
1 qt. boiling water.

Rub some of the sugar in lumps on two of the lemons until they have imbibed all the oil from them, and put it with the remainder of the sugar into a jug; add the lemon juice (but no pips), and pour over the whole a quart of boiling water. When the sugar is dissolved strain the lemonade through a piece of muslin, and, when cool, it will be ready for use.

The lemonade will be much improved by having the white of an egg beaten up with it; a little sherry mixed with it also makes this beverage much nicer.

HOT LEMONADE.

(Use large bar glass.)

1 tablespoon sugar; ½ a lemon, squeezed well; fill the glass with hot water; stir well, and serve.

Pour a little hot water into the glass, and shake around it before making the drink to prevent the glass from cracking.

ORANGE LEMONADE.

(Use large bar glass.)

½ glass shaved ice
2 tablespoonfuls powdered sugar.

Juice of 1 orange.
1 or 2 dashes lemon juice.
Fill up with water; shake and dress with fruit. Serve with a straw.

SARATOGA, OR SEA BREEZE, EGG LEMONADE.

(Use large bar glass.)

Fill ¾ of the glass with shaved ice; balance with water; use the shaker until well mixed; strain and serve; grate a little nutmeg on top.

SELTZER LEMONADE.

(Use large bar glass.)

2 tablespoonfuls powdered sugar.
5 or 6 dashes lemon juice.
½ glass shaved ice.
Fill up with Seltzer water.
Stir well and serve.

SODA LEMONADE.

(Use large bar glass.)

2 teaspoonfuls powdered sugar.
½ glass shaved ice.
3 or 4 dashes lemon juice.
1 bottle plain soda water.
Stir well. Serve.

LEMONADE POWDERS.

1 lb. finely-powdered loaf sugar.
1 oz. tartaric or citric acid.
20 drops essence of lemon.
Mix, and keep very dry.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of this stirred briskly in a tumbler of water will make a very pleasant glass of lemonade. If effervescent lemonade be desired, ½ oz. of carbonate of soda must be added to the above.

MILK AND SELTZER.

(Use a medium-sized bar glass.)

In serving this drink, which is strictly temperance, half fill the glass with Seltzer, and the rest with milk; if it is done otherwise you will have nothing but foam in your glass, which would cause delay.

NECTAR.

water, with sufficient white sugar to sweeten the whole nicely. When well mixed put in the soda, stir well, and drink while the mixture is in an effervescing state.

MINERAL WATERS.

In order to make mineral water properly, it is absolutely necessary to possess a powerful aerating and bottling machine, and the water must be, with the carbonic acid gas and chemicals, of the purest quality; the corks used must also be excellent and especially prepared.

AERATED CHALYBEATE WATER.

Contains pro-sulphate of iron, and bicarbonate of potassa. It is a very easy and excellent mode of introducing iron into the blood, and is much recommended on that account, possessing equal tonic properties to that of the natural springs.

Is an aerated solution of bicarbonate of lime; the best is made from calcined Carara marble, each bottle containing eight or ten grains of carbonate of lime; it is administered to strengthen the bony structure.

LITHIA WATER.

POTASS WATER.

Is a solution of bicarbonate of potass in distilled water, and aerated with washed carbonic acid gas.

SODA WATER.

Is a solution of crystallized carbonate of soda, in distilled water, aerated with washed carbonic acid gas, upon the purity of which the excellence of this article mainly depends. When employed as an anti-acid, it is highly important to obtain this article pure.

SELTZER WATER.

Is carbonate of soda, common salt, and carbonate of magnesia.

EFFERVESCENT DRAUGHT.

Very little of the cider sold in cities is pure apple juice. As recipes for artificial cider are advertised and sold at pretty high prices we presume they are wanted. We therefore, append some recipes which will prduce at small cost a palatable and innocent imitation of genuine cider, the supply of which is probably too small for the demand in most sections.

SWEET CIDER.

100 gallons water.
5 gallons honey.
3 oz. Catechu, powdered.
5 oz. alum.
2 pts. yeast.

Ferment for fifteen days in a warm place (in the sun if possible); add, then, bitter almonds half a pound; cloves half a pound; burned sugar, two pints; whiskey, three gallons. If acid should be in excess, correct by adding honey or sugar. If too sweet, add sulphuric acid to suit the taste. We should prefer to add cider vinegar for acidulating, when necessary.

1 hogshead water.

½ lb. alum, dissolved.

INVALIDS' DRINKS.

APPLE WATER.

(The same for any of the fruits, viz.: pears, peaches, plums, French prunes, figs, raisins, rhubarb, etc.)

Boil a large juicy apple, (pared, cored and cut into pieces) in a pint of water in a close-covered saucepan, until the apple is stewed into a pulp. Strain the liquor, pressing all the juice from the pulp. Sweeten to taste. Sometimes these fruit-waters are made with rice or barley water. To be drank cold.

BARLEY WATER.

Add to a pint of boiling water half a tablespoonful (half an ounce) of barley, rubbed smooth, with two tablespoonfuls of cold water; add also a pinch of salt and a tablespoonful of sugar. Let it boil five minutes. It is to be drank cold. The simple barley water has not an unpleasant taste, and is often prepared without additional flavor. Yet zest i. e., the thin yellow cuts of the rind of a lemon, or lump sugar rubbed over to extract the oil, can be added as flavoring, or a lemonade may be made of barley water.

Barley water may be used temporarily instead of milk.

BEEF TEA.

(Use a hot-water glass.)

½ teaspoonful of the best beef extract.

Fill the glass with hot water; stir well with a spoon; place pepper, salt and celery salt so that the customer can season to suit himself.

CINNAMON WATER.

Add five or six sticks (half an ounce) of cinnamon to a pint of boiling water, and boil fifteen minutes.

To be administered by the tablespoonful.

Given for hemorrhages.

CURRANT JELLY WATER.

(For fever patients.)

A teaspoonful of currant jelly, dissolve in a goblet of water, and sweeten to taste, affords a refreshing drink for invalids.

FLAXSEED TEA.

Add half a cupful of flaxseed to four cupfuls, or a quart of boiling water. Let it boil half an hour.

Let it stand fifteen or twenty minutes near the fire, after it has boiled. Of course the longer it stands the thicker it becomes. Strain, sweeten to taste, and add a little lemon-juice, or not, as preferred.

This is a useful demulcent drink for coughs, etc.

FLAXSEED AND LICORICE TEA.

Pour one pint of boiling water over one ounce of flaxseed, not bruised, and two drachms of licorice-root bruised, and place the covered vessel near fire for four hours. Strain it through a sieve.

GRAPE JUICE.

Allow one pint of water to three pints of fruit (picked from stems). Let it simmer slowly for five minutes then strain it through flannel or cheese cloth. It is drank cold without sweetening. Add a little sugar if not sweet enough.

LIME WATER.

Pour over a piece of fresh unslacked lime, about an inch square, two quarts of hot water. When it has slacked (in a few minutes) stir it thoroughly. Let it remain over night. Bottle carefully all the liquid that can be poured off in perfectly clear state.

As water will hold only a certain amount of lime in solution, the addition of more lime would make the water of no great strength.

Lime water (an alkali) is generally added to milk for the purpose of neutralizing the effects of an acid stomach.

About a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of lime water to a half pint of milk is usually prescribed.

OATMEAL DRINK.

Rub two tablespoonfuls (two ounces) of oatmeal smooth by gradually stirring in a teacupful of cold water; add a pinch of salt. Stir this into a quart of boiling water and let it boil half an hour. Strain it through a fine sieve.

RICE WATER.

Take best Carolina or Patna rice, should be washed with cold water, then boiled in a good measure of water for ten minutes, the water strained off, and more added; and so on till the goodness is boiled out of the rice. The water is ready to drink when cold. Cream may be added if there be not high fever; a pinch of salt also, if desired, or flavoring as for barley water.

SIMPLE BEVERAGES FROM FRUITS.

Currant jelly water (or any acid jelly—cranberry, plum, etc.)

If the jelly is soft, a teaspoonful is dissolved in a goblet of fresh cold water, and sweetened to taste.

If the jelly is hard, it will have to be added to boiling water to become dissolved. To be drank cold.

The fresh fruits are, of course, to be preferred.

There is nothing more refreshing than currant water made from fresh currants.

This can be prepared by allowing a pint of water to a pint of currants (freed from stems) and a tablespoonful of sugar.

Heat these slowly in a porcelain or granitized iron kettle until it boils, then let it simmer for five minutes. Strain it through a cloth, let cool, and sweeten again to taste. It can be diluted with water.

If strawberries, raspberries, black raspberries, or blackberries are used, prepare them in the same manner, excepting that for each quart of berries a pint of water with a tablespoonful of sugar should be used.

TAMARIND WATER.

Stir into a glassful of water a tablespoonful of preserved tamarinds.

TOAST WATER.

Toast thoroughly thin slices of graham bread, and break them into a bowl. Pour over enough boiling water to cover it when cold; strain off the water and sweeten it slightly. Serve it always freshly made.

WHITE WINE WHEY.

Put two pints of new milk in a saucepan, and stir it over a clear fire till it is nearly boiling; then add a quarter of a pint of sherry, and simmer for a quarter of an hour, skimming off the curd as it rises. Then add a tablespoonful more sherry, and skim again for a few minutes, till the whey is clear; sweeten with loaf sugar, if required.

Or the whey can be made in the same manner with lemon juice (free from seeds), using the juice of half a lemon instead of wine, a tablespoonful being quite enough for a pint of milk.

In an alimentary point of view, whey is almost of no value. It is advantageous as a drink in febrile diseases, and is a good means of administering wine in small quantities.

It may be drank either cold or warm.

It possesses sudorific and diuretic properties.

WINE, LEMON OR VINEGAR WHEY.

When a pint of milk is brought just to a boil, pour in a gill of sherry wine. Let it again come to a boil. When the whey separates, strain and sweeten to taste, using perhaps a teaspoonful of sugar.

FRUIT WINES.

Note.—Never bottle on a cloudy day; wines never look as transparent as when bottled on a clear day. Never add water to wine that is too strong, unless it has been boiled.

CHERRY WINE.

35 lbs. ripe cherries.
5 lbs. brown sugar.
Water sufficient to make 8 gallons.
1½ pints best French brandy.
Add yeast, and set aside to ferment.

10 lbs. brown sugar.
Water, sufficient to fill up a fifteen-gallon cask.
Ferment.

This yields a pleasant red wine, rather tart, but keeps well.

ELDERBERRY WINE.

8 gallons elderberries.
12 gallons water.
60 lbs. brown sugar.

Dissolve, by boiling; add yeast and ferment; then add brandy four pounds; and bung it up for three months. Disagreeable when cold, but if mulled with allspice and drank warm in winter time, it forms a useful stimulant.

GOOSEBERRY WINE.

7 lbs. brown sugar.
40 lbs. gooseberries.
Rain water to make ten gallons.
1 quart brandy.
Ferment.

ORANGE WINE.

23 lbs. sugar.
10 gallons water; boil.

Clarify with the white of six eggs; pour the boiling liquids upon the parings of one hundred oranges, add the strained juice of these oranges, and yeast, six ounces; let it work for three or four days, then strain it into a barrel; bung it up loosely; in a month add four pounds of brandy, and in three months it will be fit to drink.

BIRCH WINE.

In February or March, bore holes in birch trees, and when you have secured 9 gallons juice, boil and skim, cooling it down to 100 degrees Fahrenheit. Dissolve it in 9 pounds sugar, adding two ounces lemon, cut fine; produce fermentation with 1 pint of gluten. Keep keg full constantly, when the fermenting is over, draw it off and strain, or filter into another keg in which you have burned a piece of brimstone paper.

BLACKBERRY WINE.

½ ounce ground cinnamon.
¼ ounce ground cloves.
1 drachm cardamom seeds.
1 drachm grated nutmeg.
5 gallons blackberries.

Mash the berries, pour on 5 gallons water, heat all to a boiling point but do not let it boil.

Add 1½ gals. white syrup; pour all into a 10 gallon keg, keep in a warm place, keep keg full, and after fermenting, strain and press, add one gallon neutral spirits, filter or fine all, and when clear, bottle, and you will have the best.

BLACK CURRANT WINE.

5 gallons black currants.
5 gallons water.

10 pounds crushed sugar.

Dissolve sugar in the water. Heat all to 100 degrees Fahrenheit.

Pour into a 10-gallon keg, put in a warm place, keep it constantly full. After fermenting, strain and press; add one gallon spirits, 95 per cent above proof; fine or filter, and bottle when clear.

Mix together and pour into a keg. After it has fermented 1 week, draw it; it is ready for use.

GRAPE WINE.

Pick over carefully, thoroughly ripe grapes, free from stems and blemishes, press out the juice; to one quart of juice add one quart of water, (soft, boiled water is best), add 1¼ pounds sugar. After it is done fermenting, bung up tight. It will be ready to draw off in 3 months or sooner, but will be a far better wine in a year, if left unmolested until then.

PARSNIP WINE.

18 pounds of sweet parsnips.

3 gallons of water.

Boil together soft, press liquor through a sieve, add to each gill 3 pounds loaf sugar; when nearly cold add yeast. Let the wine stand open 10 days, stirring from the bottom, several times each day.

Then put it in a cask, and keep it full up to the bung with liquor reserved for that purpose, as it works out.

RHUBARB WINE.

Chop the Rhubarb plant, drain off the juice, and to each quart, add a quart of water and 2 pounds of sugar.

Let it ferment, and bottle when clear.

TOMATO WINE.

One quart tomato juice.

One pound sugar.

Use no yeast, as it will ferment without it. This wine is much thought of in some places, and is easy to make.

CHERRY BRANDY.

Bruise 3 lbs. of black cherries, wild ones preferable, cracking the stones; put the mass into a jar, with a few young cherry leaves.

Add 3 pints of brandy or pure spirit; in three months strain off. Add 2 lbs. of clear sugar, after which it will be ready for use in a week.

In climbing the hill of prosperity may you never meet a friend.

May the hinges of friendship never grow rusty.

Our Country—May she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong.—Decatur.

May we have more friends and need them less and less.

May we always look upon the faults of others with the same eye we look upon our own.

Let us have wine and women, mirth and laughter.

We will not ask her name.—Byron.

Chess-like, a successful courtship ends by mating.

Here's to our wives and sweethearts; may they never meet.

In poker, like a glass of beer, you draw to fill.

May we always have a head to earn and a heart to spend.

May we never crack a joke or break a reputation.

May the devil cut the toes of all our foes, that we may know them by their limping.

May foreign fashions never corrupt American manners.

Here's to Love, the only fire against which there is no insurance.

Our Country—May there be no North, no South no East, no West, but only one broad, beautiful united, glorious land.

Where's the coward who would not dare to fight for such a land—Our Country?

Here's to the health of everybody, lest somebody should feel himself slighted.

May we either say nothing of the absent, or speak of them like a friend.

The first duty of bachelors—To ring the city belles.

May good fortune follow you all your days (and never catch up with you).

The grace that every man desires—The good graces of woman.

May the barque of friendship never founder in the well of deception.

May we have the wit to discover what is true and practice what is good.

Here's to one another and one other whoever he or she may be.

May true love always gain its object.

May those who are single get wives to their mind.
And those who are married true happiness find.

May the chicken never be hatched that will scratch on your grave.

May the sons of freedom increase and multiply.

May friendship propose the toast, and sincerity drink it.

May we never make a sword of our tongues to wound the reputation of others.

May your wine add wings to old time, but not make us insensible of his flight.

May the best day we have seen be the worst that is to come.

The Harp of Ireland—He is no true son of Erin whose heart does not respond to the inspiration of its numbers.

May we always mingle in the friendly bowl,
The feast of reason and the flow of soul.

Fill the bumper fair!
Every drop we sprinkle
O'er the brow of Care
Smooths away a wrinkle.

While we live let us live in clover,
For when we're dead we're dead all over.

Here's to all the hair off your hea

May we never give way to melancholy, but always be merry in the right place.

May we ever be able to serve a friend and noble enough to conceal it.

Wit—A very cheap commodity when uttered at the expense of good breeding and good sense.

Here's to you—May you always be good, but not too good.

To the lady we love and the friend we trust

Here's to the American Eagle—The liberty bird that permits no liberties.

Charity—A link from the chain that angels wear.

The nimble penny—May it soon grow into a dime and then swell into a dollar.

Laugh, and the world laughs with you;
Weep, and you weep alone.

Our American Boys—Who have arms for their girls, and arms for their country's foes.

Brisk wine and lovely women are
The source of all our joys;
A bumper softens every care
And beauty never cloys.
Then let us drink, and let us love
While yet our hearts are gay;
Women and wine we all approve,
As blessing night and day.

Which is the properest day to drink?
Saturday, Sunday, Monday?
Each is the properest day, I think;
Why should I name but one day?
Tell me but yours, I will mention my day,
Let us fix on some day;
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday,
Saturday, Sunday, Monday.

Come, fill the bowl, each jolly soul,
Let Bacchus guide our revels;
Join cup to lip, with hip, hip, hip,
And bury the blue devils.

The Merchant—May we always be exchanging for the better.

The Hardware Trade—Although they profess to honesty, they sell iron and steel for a living.

Knock and the world knocks with you,
Boast and you boast alone.
The bad old earth is a foe to mirth,
And has a hammer as large as your own.
Buy and the gang will answer,
Sponge and they stand and sneer;
The revelers joined to a joyous sound
And shout from refusing beer.
Be rich and the men will seek you,
Poor, and they turn and go—
You're a mighty good fellow when you are mellow
And your pockets are lined with dough.
Be flush and your friends are many,
Go broke and you lose them all.
You're a dandy old sport at $4.00 a quart—
But not if you chance to fall.
Praise and the cheers are many,
Beef and the world goes by.
Be smooth and slick and the gang will stick,
As close as the hungry fly.
There is always a crowd to help you
A copious draught to drain.
When the gang is gone you must bear alone
The harrowing stroke of pain.

"THE CYPHER."

A place that is dear to true Bohemians—
A place that exists in the hearts of those which love it.
A place where hearts beat light, and hands grasp firm;
Where poverty is no disgrace and charity does not chill,
A place where kindred virtues have fled for refuge,
And Mrs. Grundy has no sway.

They talk about a woman's sphere as though it had a limit;
There's not a place in earth or heaven,
There's not a task to mankind given,
There's not a blessing or a woe,
There's not a whispered yes or no,
There's not a life or birth,
That has a feather's weight of worth—
Without a woman in it.

OUR COUNTRY.

To her we drink, for her we pray,
Our voices silent never;
For her we'll fight, what come may,
The Stars and Stripes forever!

THE AMERICAN NAVY.

With the bulldogs of war
Standing guard on our coasts
All fears of attack quickly vanish;

Manned with hearts that are true
To the Red, White and Blue
They'll make all our foemen "walk Spanish."

Here's to the wings of love;
May they never molt a feather,
Until your little barque and my little barque,
Sail down the stream of life together.

Friend of my soul! this goblet sip—
'Twill chase the pensive tear;
'Tis not sweet as woman's lip,
But, O! 'tis more sincere.

Like her delusive beam,
'Twill steal away the mind,
But unlike affection's dreams,
It leaves no sting behind.

Here's to the press, the pulpit and the petticoat,
The three ruling powers of the day;
The first spreads knowledge,
The second spreads morals
And the third spreads over a multitude of sins.

Sparkling and bright in the liquid light,
Does the wine our goblets gleam in;
With hue as red as the rosy bed
Which a bee would choose to dream in.

Then fill to-night, with hearts as light,
To love as gay and fleeting
As bubbles that swim on the beaker's brim
And break on the lips while meeting.

"Well," murmured one, "let whoso make make or buy,
But fill me with the old familiar juice.
My clay with long oblivion is one dry,
Methinks I might recover by and by."

The Physician—Although professedly a good man the worse people are, the more he is with them.

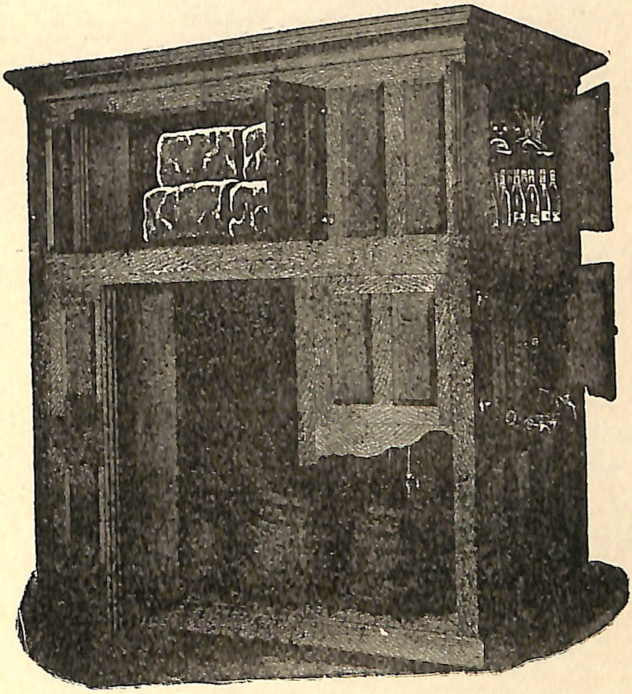
THE MAINE.

A mighty nation mourns thee yet;
Thy gallant crew—their awful fate;
And Justice points her finger straight,
Lest we forget—lest we forget!

Drink to-day and drown all sorrow;
You shall perhaps not do't to-morrow;
Best while you have it, use your breath;
There is no drinking after death.

Home—The father's kingdom; the child's paradise; the mother's world.

Here's to those I love;
Here's to those who love me;
Here's to those who love those I love,
And here's to those who love those who love those who love me.



May we have the unspeakable good fortune to win a true heart, and the Merit to keep it.

Drink to me only with thine eyes,
And I will pledge with mine;
Or leave a kiss within the cup,
And I'll not look for wine.
The thirst that from the soul doth rise
Doth ask a drink divine;
But might I of Jove's nectar sip,
I would not change from thine.

Here's to you, my dear,
And to the dear that's not here, my dear;
But if the dear that's not here, my dear,
Were here, my dear,
I'd not be drinking to you, my dear.

'Ere's to the 'ealth o' your Royal 'Ighness; hand may the skin o' ha gooseberry be big enough for han humbrella to cover hup hall your enemies.

Here's to the glass we so love to sip,
It dries many a pensive tear,
'Tis not so sweet as a woman's lip
But a d—— sight more sincere.

The American Eagle—The older he grows, the louder he screams and the higher he flies.

Its cannons swept the British decks,
And wrecked the hope of England's Rex.

The soldiers of America,
Their arms our defense, our arms their reward;
Fall in, men, fall in.

The American Navy—May it ever sail on a sea of glory.

Discretion in speech is more than eloquence. May we always remember these three things: The manner, the place and the time.

Here's a sigh to those who love me,
And a smile to those who hate,
And whatever sky's above me,
Here's to the heart for every fate.
Were't the last drop in the well—
As I gasped upon the brink,
Ere my fainting spirit fell,
'Tis to thee that I would drink.

Here's heatlh to the girl who will drink when she can;
Here's health to the girl who will "rush the tin can,"
And health to the girl who can dance the can-can—
'Tis the canny toast of an uncanny man.

Here's to the maiden of bashful fifteen·
Here's to the widow of fifty;
Here's to the flaunting, extravagant queen,
And here's to the housewife that's thrifty!
Let the toast pass;
Drink to the lass;
I'll warrant she'll prove an excuse for the glass.

Here's to the woman whose heart and whose soul
Are the light and the life of each spell we pursue,
Whether sunn'd at the tropics or chilled at the pole,
If women be there, there is happiness too.
Thus circling the cup, hand in hand, ere we drink,
Let sympathy pledge us, through pleasure, through pain,
That, fast as feeling but touches one link,
Her magic shall send it direct through the chain.

A fig then for Burgundy, Claret or Mountain,
A few scanty glasses must limit your wish,
But he's the true toper that goes to the fountain,
The drinker that verily "drinks like a fish!"

The Boundaries of our Country—East, by the Rising Sun; north, by the North Pole; west, by all creation; and south, by the Day of Judgment.

Here's to the heart
Though another's it be;
Here's to the cheeks,
Though they bloom not for me.

Wine is good,
Love is good,
And all is good if understood;
The sin is not in doing,
But in overdoing;
How much of mine has gone that way?
Alas! How much more that may?

The Man We Love—He who thinks most good an speaks less ill of his neighbor.

Here's health to Columbia, the pride of the earth.
The stars and stripes—drink the land of our birth!
Toast the army and navy who fought for our cause,
Who conquered and won us our freedom and laws.

Here's to the day (Thanksgiving) when first the Yankees
Acknowledged Heaven's good gifts with Thank'ees.

May friendship, like wine, improve as time advances and may we always have old wine, old friends, and young cares.

Whene'er with friends I drink
Of one I always think.
She's pretty, she's witty, and so true;
So with joy and great delight
I'll drink to her to-night,
And when doing so think none the less of you!

You may run the whole gamut of color and shade,
A pretty girl—however you dress her—
Is the prettiest thing that ever was made,
And the last one is always the prettiest,
Bless her!

May we never murmur without cause, and never have cause to murmur.

Here's to the merry old world
And the days—be they bright or blue—
Here's to the Fates, let them bring what they may,
But the best of them—That's you!

Here's a toast to all who are here,
No matter where you're from;
May the best days you have seen
Be worse than your worst to come.

I drink it as the Fates ordain it,
Come, fill it, and have one with rhymes;
Fill up the lonely glass, and drain it
In memory of dear old times.

Happy are we met, Happy have we been,
Happy may we part, and Happy meet again.

Here's to you two and to we two;
If you two love we two,
As we two love you two,
Then here's to we four;
But if you don't love two,
As we two love you two,
Then here's to we two and no more.

May Dame Fortune ever smile on you;
But never her daughter—
Miss Fortune.

Here's a health to the Future;
A sigh for the Past;
We can love and remember,
And hope to the last,
And for all the base lies
That the almanacs hold
While there's love in the heart,
We can never grow old.

Here's to the women, present and past,
And to those to come hereafter;
But if one comes here after us,
We'll have no cause for laughter.

Here's to the white man's wife—
The white man's aid,
But not his burden.

Come, come, good wine is a good, familiar creature, if it be well used.

THE SUMMER GIRL.

She'll learn to smoke a cigarette
And drink a glass of wine;
She'll get a breakfast, lunch or tea,
An appetite to dine;
She'll flirt, in dress decolette,
She'll think a kiss no sin;
And that's the kind of a summer girl—
Alas! that seems to win.

The Cynic.

An honest lawyer, a pious divine, and a skillful physician.

Laugh at all things,
Great and small things,
Sick or well, at sea or shore;
While we're quaffing,
Let's have laughing—
Who the devil cares for more?

Drink to fair woman, who I think,
Is most entitled to it,
For if anything ever can drive me to drink,
She certainly can do it

Censure—The tax man pays to the public for being eminent.

Here's to the four hinges of Friendship
Swearing, Lying, Stealing and Drinking.
When you swear, swear by your country;
When you lie, lie for a pretty woman;
When you steal, steal away from bad company;
And when you drink, drink with me.

Enjoy the spring of Love and Youth,
To some good angel leave the rest.
For all too soon we learn the truth;
There are no birds in last year's nest.

To the memory of
GEORGE WASHINGTON,
the childless father of seventy millions.

We come into this world all naked and bare;
We go through this world full of sorrow and care;
We go out of this world, we know not where,
But if we're good fellows here, we'll be thoroughbreds there.

I fill this cup to one made up
Of loveliness alone,
A woman, of her gentle sex
The seeming paragon.
Her health! and would on earth there stood
Some more of such a frame,
That life might be all poetry,
And weariness a name.

Drink ye to her that each loves best;
And if you nurse a flame
That's told but to her mutual breast,
We will not ask her name.

Here's to turkey when you are hungry,
Champagne when you are dry,
A pretty girl when you need her,
And heaven when you die.

Here's to our sweethearts and our wives,
May our sweethearts soon become our wives
And our wives ever remain our sweethearts.

Here's to Our Friends,
Whether absent on land or sea.

Here's to the girls of the American shore,
I love but one, I love no more,
Since she's not here to drink her part,
I drink her share with all my heart.

The juice of the grape is given to him who will use it wisely,
As that which cheers the heart of men after toil.
Refreshes him in sickness, and comforts him in sorrow.
He who enjoyeth it may thank God for his wine cup as for his daily bread.
And he who abuses the gift of heaven is not a greater fool than thou in thine abstinence.

Drink, for you know not
Whence you came, nor why;
Drink, for you know not why
You go, nor whence.

The Land We Live In—Let him who don't like it leave it.

Industry—The right hand of fortune, the grave of care and, the cradle of content.

May we kiss whom we please,
And please whom we kiss.

The Surgeon—A man who bleeds for his countrymen.

Dismay to Unskilled Surgeons—Who, like the nocturnal feline, mew-till-late and destroy patients.

Here's to the prettiest,
Here's to the wittiest,
Here's to the truest of all who are true
Here's to the sweetest one,
Here's to them all in one—here's to you.

Here's to American valor,
May no war require it, but may it ever be ready for every foe.

Here's to a bird, a bottle and an open work stocking,
There's nothing in this that's so very shocking.
The bird came from Jersey, the bottle from France,
The open-work stocking was seen at a dance.

Here's to the tears of affection,
May they crystallize as they fall,
And become pearls, in after years
To be worn in memory of those whom we have loved.

Hail to the graduating girl;
She's sweeter, far, than some;
For while she speaks she talks no slang
And chews no chewing gum.

A little health, a little wealth,
A little house and freedom,
With some few friends for certain ends,
But little cause to need 'em.

And the night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Shall fold their tents like Arabs,
And as silently steal away.

Here's to the woman,
Who in our hours of ease
Uncertain, coy and hard to please,
But seen too oft—familiar thy face,
First we pity, then endure and then embrace.

The health of those we love the best: Our noble selves.

Here's to the lasses we've loved, my lad,
Here's to the lips we've pressed;
For of kisses and lasses
Like liquor in glasses,
The last is always the best.

Here's to a long life and a merry one,
A quick death and an easy one,
A pretty girl and a true one,
A cold bottle and another one.

The world is filled with flowers,
The flowers are filled with dew,
The dew is filled with love
And you and you and you.

Here's to you as good as you are
As good as you are and as bad as I am;
And to me as bad as I am;
I'm as good as you are as bad as I am.

The Law—The only thing certain about litigation is its uncertainty.

The Lawyer—A learned gentleman, who rescues your estate from your enemies, and keeps it himself.

It's the best wine that goeth down sweetly, causing the lips of whoso drinketh to murmur in praise.

The grape that can with logic absolute,
The two and seventy jarring sects confute;
The sovereign alchemist that in a trice
Life's leaden metal into gold transmutes.

My life has been like sunny skies
When they are fair to view;
But there never yet were lives or skies
Clouds might not wander through.

The Three Great American Generals—General Peace, General Prosperity, and General Satisfaction.

"Our hearts, our hopes are all with thee,
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee, are all with thee—America."

Our National Birds,

THE AMERICAN EAGLE,
THE THANKSGIVING TURKEY,

May one give us peace in all our states—
And the other a piece for all our plates

Here's to the friends we class as old,
And here's to those we class as new;
May the new grow to us old,
And the old ne'er grow to us new.

Here's to the swan that swims near yon fair shore
I love one truly and I love no more.
May willow branches bend and break
Before that one I shall forsake.

A mighty pain to love it is,
And 'tis a pain that's pain to miss;
But of all pains the greatest pain
It is to love and love in vain.

Endless torments dwell about thee,
Yet who would live and live without thee?

May those now love
Who've never loved before;
May those who've loved
Now love the more.

Fill the bowl with flowing wine
And while your lips are wet
Press their fragrance into mine
And forget.
Every kiss we take and give
Leaves us less of life to live.

May all single men be married,
And all married men be happy.

OUR COUNTRY'S EMBLEM.

The Lily of France may fade,
The Thistle and Shamrock wither,
The Oak of England will decay,
But the Stars shine on forever.

God made man
Frail as a bubble;
God made Love,
Love made trouble;
God made the Vine,
Was it a sin
That Man made Wine
To drown Trouble in?

A cheerful glass, a pretty lass
A friend sincere and true.
Blooming health, a good store of wealth,
Attend on me and you.

The Hedger—He makes no friend who never makes a foe.

The Good Things of this World—Parsons are preaching for them, Lawyers are pleading for them, Physicians are prescribing for them, Authors are writing for them, Soldiers are fighting for them, but true Philosophers alone are enjoying them.

Come, fill a bumper, fill it round,
May mirth, wine and wit abound.
In them alone true wisdom lies—
For to be merry's to be wise.

The Fourth of July—like oysters,
It cannot be enjoyed without crackers.

Here's to champagne, the drink divine
That makes us forget our troubles;
It's made of a dollar's worth of wine
And three dollars' worth of bubbles.

Health to the bold and dashing coquette
Who careth not for me;
Whose heart, untouched by love as yet,
Is wild and fancy free.

Toasts of love to the timid dove
Are always going 'round;
Let mine be heard by the untamed bird
And make your glasses sound.

Yesterday's yesterday while to-day's here,
To-day is to-day till to-morrow appear,
To-morrow's to-morrow until to-day's past,
And kisses are kisses as long as they last.

THE CHATTERBOX.

May he give us a few brilliant flashes of silence.

Through this toilsome world, alas,
Once, and only once we pass,
If a kindness we may show,
If a good deed we may do
To our suffering fellow-men,
Let us do it, for 'tis plain,
We shall not pass this way again.

Let's be gay while we may,
And seize love with laughter.
I'll be true, as long as you,
And not a moment after.

Here's to the man who loves his wife,
And he loves his wife alone.
For many a man loves another man's wife,
When he ought to be loving his own

Here's to one and only one,
And may that one be she,
Who loves but one and only one,
And may that one be me.

Of all your beauties, one by one,
I pledge, dear, I am thinking
Before the tale were well begun
I had been dead of drinking.

Some hae meat and canna' eat,
And some would eat who want it;
But we hae meat and we can eat,
So let the Lord be thankit.

Here's to love; a thing so divine;
Description makes it but less.
'Tis what we feel but cannot define,
'Tis what we know but cannot express.

Our Noble Selves—May we all travel to one destination—happiness; although we may go by different roads.

To America's daughters—Let all fill their glasses,
Whose beauty and virtue the whole world surpasses;
May blessings attend them, go wherever they will,
And foul fall the man e'er offers them ill.

Be not elated if one soul is oppressed,
Be not dejected if one soul is blest.

May the juice of the grape enliven each soul,
And good humor preside at the head of each bowl.

Who loves not women, wine and song,
Will be a fool his whole life long.

One wife, one bottle, and one friend: the first beautiful, the second ever full, the last faithful.

The Man We Love—He who thinks the most good and speaks the least ill of his neighbors.

May we never have friends who, like shadows, keep close to us in the sunshine only to desert us on a cloudy day or in the night.

Here's to those who'd love us
If we only cared.
Here's to those we'd love
If we only dared.

Here's a health to all good lassies!
Pledge it merrily; fill your glasses!
Let the bumper toast go round.

Drink, boys, drink, and drive away sorrow—
For perhaps we may not drink again to-morrow.

Here's lovers two to the maiden true,
And four to the maid caressing,
But the wayward girl with lips that curl
Keeps twenty lovers guessing.

Here's to the maiden of blushing fifteen,
Here's to the housewife that's thrifty,
Here's to the flaunting extravagant queen
And here's to the widow of fifty.

May the sunshine of comfort dispel the clouds of despair.

Success to our army, success to our fleet,
May our foes be compelled to bow down at our feet

The Frenchman loves his native wine;
The German loves his beer;
The Englishman loves his 'alf and 'alf,
Because it brings good cheer.
The Irishman loves his "whisky straight,"
Because it gives him dizziness.
The American has no choice at all,
So he drinks the whole d—— business.

Here's to the girl I love,
And here's to the girl who loves me,
And here's to all that love her whom I love,
And all those that love her who loves me.

Here's to the girl that's strictly in it,
Who doesn't lose her head, even for a minute.
Plays well the game and knows the limit—
And still gets all the fun there's in it.

I will drink to the woman who wrought my woe,
In the diamond morning of long ago;
To the splendor, caught from Orient skies
That thrilled in the dark of her hazel eyes,
Her large eyes filled with the fire of the south,
And the dewy wine of her warm red mouth.

Well, I wonder what the vintners buy
One-half so precious as the stuff they sell.

Here's a health to me and mine,
Not forgetting thee and thine:
And when thee and thine
Come to see me and mine
May me and mine make thee and thine
As welcome as thee and thine
Have ever made me and mine.

Tobacco—Thy clouds all other clouds dispel, and lap me in delight.

Sparkling and bright in the liquid light,
Does the wine in our goblets gleam in.

Come, fill the glass and drain the bowl;
May love and Bacchus still agree;
And every American warm his soul
With Cupid, Wine and Liberty.

A health to our sweethearts, our friends and our wives,
And may fortune smile on them the rest of their lives.

One bumper at parting!—though many
Have circled the board since we met,
The fullest, the saddest of any,
Remains to be crowned by us yet.
The sweetness that pleasure has in it
Is always so slow to come forth,
That seldom, alas! 'til the minute
It dies do we know half its worth!
But oh! may our life's happy measure
Be all of such moments made up,
They're born on the bosom of pleasure,
They die in the tears of the cup.

To the old, long life and treasure;
To the young, all health and pleasure;
To the fair, their face,
With eternal grace;
And the rest, to be loved at leisure.

For let her be clumsy, or let her be slim,
Young or ancient, I care not a feather;
So fill up a bumper, nay fill to the brim,
Let us toast all the ladies together!

Fill the goblet again; for I never before
Felt the glow which now gladdens my heart to its core.
Let us drink; who would not? since through life's varied round
In the goblet alone no deception is found.

Our Firesides—Few can receive honors of the college, but all are graduates of the hearths

The Irish Heart—Quick and strong in its generous impulses, firm in its attachments, sound to the core.

Daniel O'Connell—Athens boasted of a Solon, an Aristides and a Demosthenes, but Ireland beholds all their great qualities combined in her favorite Son.

Justice to Ireland—A domestic legislature alone can confer it; to expect it from a London Parliament is an idle dream, and we Irishmen, on this side of the water, hope that full restitution will be made for past injustices.

The Daughters of Ireland, entrenched within the fortress of parental affection: May they never surrender the citadel of their hearts, except to those who wield the arms of sincere love, chastened by morality and temperance.

The Ladies—With assiduity we court their smiles; with sorrow we receive their frowns; but smiling or frowning, we love them.

Hibernia—Steeped in her own tears, she never can get up:—soaking in whisky, she must go down;—but bathing in "coult wather" she will get on "swimmingly."

The Memory of Gen. Thomas Francis Meagher—A martyr to the cause of American liberty: May his blood constitute an enduring cement of friendship between the land of his birth and the land of his adoption.

Ireland and America—May the former soon be as free as the latter, and may the latter never forget that Irishmen were instrumental in securing the liberty they now enjoy.

Andrew Jackson, Ex-President of the United States —The son of Irish Parents in retiring from office, we may justly say in the words of the poet—

"An honest man's the noblest work of God."

The Descendants of Irishmen—May they never forget the respect which they owe to the land which contains the ashes of their fathers.

The Heart of an Irishman—A living monument of the kind and generous feelings—while the hand of Charity guides the stream, may the hand of Wealth yield a perpetual supply.

Irishmen—The love of liberty will burn in their bosoms as long as their bright isle is washed by the ocean.

The Emerald Isle—May her sons and daughters resemble a field of potatoes in full bloom, beautiful to look upon; and when called on to assist the distressed, may they, like the roots, prove a real blessing to the poor.

Horticultural Experiments—May the tree of freedom soon be planted in Ireland, and may John Bull find it as difficult to uproot it as he found it there

The Fair of Erin—The fairest of the fair—may their fare be our fare, the best of fare.

Americans and Irishmen—They may differ as to whether the patron saint of the latter had any hand in driving out the enemies of the former—but in this they will agree—to stand together and fall together, before the foot of Briton shall again be placed on the land of their birth or the land of their adoption.

Ireland—St. Patrick destroyed its creeping things of other days—may his disciples speedily exterminate the political reptiles of the present age.

The Ladies—The anxiety and solace of our lives: how to make adequate return for the blessings they confer is a continual perplexity—

"Why then a final note prolong,
Or lengthen out a closing song,
Unless to bid the gentles speed
Who long have listed to our rede;
To every lovely lady bright,

What can we wish but faithful knight?
To every faithful lover too,
What can we wish but lady true?
And knowledge to the studious sage,
And pillow soft to head of age."

Merit to gain a heart, and sense to keep it.

Money to him that has the spirit to use it.

More friends and less need of them.

May those who deceive us, be always deceived.

May the sword of justice be swayed by the hand of mercy.

May the brow of the brave never want a wreath.

May we be slaves to nothing but our duty, and friends to nothing but real merit.

May he that turns his back on his friend, fall into the hands of his enemy.

May honor be the commander when love takes the field.

May reason guide the helm when passion blows the gale.

May those who would enslave become slaves themselves.

May genius and merit never want a friend.

May the road to happiness be lighted by virtue.

May life last as long as it is worth wearing.

May we never murmur without a cause, and never have a cause to murmur.

May the eye that drops for the misfortunes of others never shed a tear of its own.

May the lovers of the fair sex never want means to support and spirit to defend them.

May the tear of misery be dried by the hand of commiseration.

May the voyage of life end in the haven of happiness.

Wit without virulence, wine without excess, and wisdom without affectation.

What charms, arms and disarms.

Home pleasant, and our friends at home.

Friendship: May its lamp ever be supplied by the oil of truth and fidelity.

Here's to the maiden of bashful fifteen;
Here's to the widow of fifty;
Here's to the flaunting, extravagant queen,
And here's to the housewife that's thrifty.
Let the toast pass,
Drink to the lass,
I'll warrant she'll prove an excuse for the glass.

Here's to the charmer whose dimples we prize,
Now to the maid who has none, sir;
Here's to the girl with a pair of blue eyes,
And here's to the nymph with but one, sir.
Let the toast pass, etc.

Here's to the maid with a bosom of snow;
Now to her that's as brown as a berry;
Here's to the wife with a face full of woe,
And now to the damsel that's merry.
Let the toast pass, etc.

For let 'em be clumsy, or let 'em be slim,
Young or ancient, I care not a feather;
So fill a pint bumper quite up to the brim,
So fill up your glasses, nay, fill to the brim,
And let us e'en toast them together.
Let the toast pass, etc.

Instead of a song, boys, I'll give you a toast,
Here's to the memory of those ———* that we lost;
That we lost, did I say? Nay, by heaven, that we found,
For their fame it shall last while the world goes round.

The next in succession I'll give you the ———†
Whoe'er would betray him, on high may he swing!
And here's to the grand fabric, our free Constitution:
And longer with Politics, not be cramm'd,
Be Anarchy curs'd and be Tyranny damm'd;
And who would to Liberty e'er prove disloyal,
May his son be a hangman and he his first trial!
—After Robert Burns.

Here's to Life! Our entrance into it naked and bare;
Our journey through it, trouble and care;
Our exit from it, God knows where:
But if we're all right here, we're all right there.

Here's to sunny skies!

Here's to your health and your family's good health; may they live long and prosper.

*"On the Maine," or "At Gettysburg," etc.

†"The President" (U. S. or some Club), "The Governor," etc.

Here's a sigh for those who love us,
  Here's a smile for those who hate;
And whatever sky's above us,
  Is a heart for any fate.

I drink to the health, to the love and the wealth
  Of the girl who is queen of them all,
May her heart be as light as my own is to-night
  As in fancy I lis't to her call.

May her soul be as pure as her features are fair,
  And her love linger on to the last;
That some day we may sit by the fire and dream
  Of the sweet lover days of the past.

May her smiles cast one sunshine on every life,
  That they gently bestow on mine,
And old Time only serve to make truer the heart,
  As it serves to make sweeter the wine.

THE END.

CONFESSIONS OF A CON-MAN

By Curt Jeffreys.

This is the humorous and dramatic adventures of a professional sharper, who made his living by his wits. The deceptions he practiced upon the guileless and upon the well-informed in the country and cities of the United States, forms a sparkling story of how the American people like to be fooled. Incidentally the reader can also learn the "ways that are dark and the tricks that are vain," as practiced to obtain money in the world of confidence games and graft. The reader gets his money's worth many times over in humor, entertainment and instruction.

PHRENOLOGY

A Choice of Professions and Matrimony • A Self-Instructor

By Prof. William Windsor, Ph. D.

Fully illustrated.

Every young man and woman of reasonable intelligence is, or ought to be, possessed of a laudable ambition to be self-sustaining. To win a competency, to secure the necessities, to have even the luxuries of life, is perfectly praiseworthy, provided they are obtained in a legitimate manner. Every rational man seeks the occupation, trade or profession which insures the profitable employment of his best talents, and the science which discloses to the youth at the beginning of his education what those talents are and how they may be developed to perfection in early manhood, confers upon him the greatest favor within the gift of knowledge, from a financial standpoint. That a knowledge of Phrenology does this, and more, this book proves beyond all question.
